

2025 Environment Day: PT Dermaga Perkasapratama Plants Mangroves with the Local Community

Balikpapan, 2025 — To commemorate the 2025 World Environment Day, PT Dermaga Perkasapratama (DPP) took concrete action by planting 1,000 mangroves on 10 June 2025 around the coastal area of Balikpapan Coal Terminal in East Kalimantan. This activity is one of DPP's commitments to environmental preservation and coastal ecosystem restoration.

To support this initiative, DPP partnered with several organizations. Related local organizations came together to collaborate on this effort, including Pepelingasih, Relawan Garuda, Directorate of Water Police, Balikpapan Environment Agency, DKP3, local government, fishermen, and community members. The enthusiasm and sense of unity have made the event more meaningful and strengthened relationships between DPP and the community.

Mangroves are more than just coastal trees, as they play a crucial role in protecting coastlines from abrasion, absorbing carbon emissions, and providing habitat for diverse marine species. Through this mangrove planting initiative, DPP hopes to contribute to the environmental restoration and promote the sustainability of coastal communities.

This activity is also a manifestation of DPP's support to the fulfillment of biodiversity aspect in the 2025 PROPER (Corporate Performance Rating Program in Environmental Management). Moving forward, DPP is committed to continuing similar events by engaging community members to join hands in preserving the environment.
